To keep our research as impartial and unbiased as possible, we do not accept payment from any of the destinations we research or review. We do not accept compensation for any products, services (such as hotels) we mention in our articles. That allows us to "tell it like it is" in every article we bring to you. We are not affiliated with any real estate organizations or developments. In the future we will sell in-depth reports on various destinations as they are completed.

Our membership is FREE! As our membership builds, more and more advertisers will want to pay to be on our site. Only members may vote on which destinations are to be researched or added to our list of destinations to be visited. There will be MEMBERS ONLY sections of the site very soon so sign up today! Send in your questions, comments and suggestions.
