

Bus travel from Panama City to David

Written by T. Rob Brown (aka Roberto Chocolate)

Tuesday, 11 May 2010 12:17 - Last Updated Tuesday, 11 May 2010 20:57

Here is a question regarding bus travel to David. I sent this to Del V., a Canadian who bought a house in Las Lajas, about 30 minutes from David:

Hello from La Luz, New Mexico, Roberto, we will be coming to Panama, in September for a visit, we are looking for a place to retire and all that we have heard about Panama, has been great. i am so hoping we could meet when we are in Boquete or David, we will be in David, on Sept. 10,11,12, 13 and 14, hopefully enough time to meet up with you, we will also be in Boquete, on Sept.15,16,17, and 18. looking forward to meeting you. do you happen to have the telephone number for the bus service that runs from Panama City to David? We have been unable to find it. Thanks, Carol

Dear Roberto

No telephone # to speak of, and no need to make a reservation unless you are traveling on a holiday. The National Bus Terminal is in Allbrook,next to the Allbrook Mall.

The buses run on the hour during the day from what I understand and the trip cost is approx. $15.00 one way to David.

The buses are air conditioned and generally direct unless noted otherwise - and a taxi from the airport to the bus terminal is about 30 bucks.

Del V.

Editors Note: If you want to get together, stop in Santa Clara on your way to David - Santa Clara

Bus travel from Panama City to David

Written by T. Rob Brown (aka Roberto Chocolate)

Tuesday, 11 May 2010 12:17 - Last Updated Tuesday, 11 May 2010 20:57

is 1 hour 15 minutes from Panama City - David is another 5 hours away, Boquete is another 45 minutes further up into the mountains past David. I am not in David that often. BTW you picked my birthday to visit! (Sept. 15th)